

TRUCK DRIVER IS FATALLY INJURED AS CARS COLLIDE

Edwin Wilkinson Dies of Injuries Received in Accident

BODY IS BROUGHT TO ANTIOCH

Elburn Wilkinson died at two o'clock today in Memorial hospital, Waukegan, where he was taken following the accident yesterday afternoon on Grand avenue. The body was brought to Strang's undertaking rooms, Antioch, this afternoon. Coroner Taylor gave permission to remove the body, but he did not set the time of holding the inquest.

Falling to see the Hudson sedan which was traveling toward him on the main highway, Edwin Wilkinson, Elburn, Illinois, who was at the wheel of a large coal truck, was seriously cut and bruised when he jammed head-on into the approaching machine, as he drove out onto the highway beyond the Ernest Lehmann farm, about 7 miles south of Antioch, Wednesday afternoon.

Other Occupants Not Seriously Hurt
The occupants of the sedan, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Taylor, Mrs. Taylor's maid, Mrs. Lena Boyle, and Vernon Rogers, their chauffeur, all of Channel lake, were not seriously injured as far as physicians have been able to determine.

Antioch People Offer Assistance
A few minutes after the collision, three cars of Antioch people, including Mrs. H. B. Gaston, Mrs. John Moore, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ziegler, L. M. Wetzel, and James Horan arrived at the scene of the trouble within intervals of a few minutes. They immediately notified Dr. Beebe, Antioch. Shortly after the doctor arrived, Wilkinson was taken to Victory Memorial hospital, Waukegan, by Wetzel and Horan and the women were extricated from the accident by Mrs. Gaston and Mrs. Moore. The Hudson, which had overturned in the ditch, and the truck were both wrecked beyond repair.

Wilkinson Employed at Lake Villa
Wilkinson was employed by the Rhoads Ice and Coal company, Lake Villa, and at the time of the accident, he was coming from the Venetian Gardens, where he had been delivering coal. Latest reports have it that he is in a very serious condition.

County Judge Gets State Appointment

County Judge P. L. Persons has been appointed by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson as a member of the state welfare commission.

Willoughby Walling of Chicago, was named chairman and Rev. Frederic Seldenburg, Chicago; Miss Mary Humphrey, Springfield; Harry Laurie, Chicago; and Judge Persons as members.

The newly organized body, functioning under the direction of Rodney H. Brandon, director of the state department of public welfare, will make a study of welfare conditions.

Libertyville People Are Excited Over Ore Found Near There

Libertyville was all astir yesterday following the discovery of a quantity of gold-like ore or quartz in the gravel pit east of the village by Mexican and negro workers.

As the news of the discovery was spread through the village, many of the residents of that section of the country visited the gravel pit to inspect the samples which had been removed from the pit by the workmen.

Excited by the thought of their discovery, the men were not able to do much work during the rest of the day. Instead, they stood in amazement wondering what legal steps would be necessary to establish a claim to their bits of treasure. Many of those who went to the "gold-mine" scene were of the opinion that the apparent gold-like ore or quartz were merely "fools' gold", a formation of iron pyrites of little or no value. The finders, however, are determined to have the mineral assayed.

BIRTHS

A son was born to Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Lutterman Saturday at St. Theresa hospital, Waukegan.

ANTIOCH IS ONE OF 4 CITIES TO BE HOSTS TO FARMERS' INSTITUTES

Noted Speakers Have Been Engaged To Come Here
October 18

Dates, speakers, and exhibits have been arranged for the Farmers' Institutes which will be held in Lake county in October; and Antioch has been accorded the honor of being one of the 4 cities scheduled to be hosts to the masses of people who, it is expected, will be attracted by these meetings. Deviation from the custom of holding these institutes during the month of February is due to the fact that a farm exhibit has been planned in connection with them, and also that it is the belief of authorities that October is a better month in which to make a display than is February. Ivanhoe will hold the first session on the 16th; Lake Zurich on the 17th; Antioch on the 18th; and Gurnee on the 19th.

Noted Speakers Engaged
This year's institute promises to be the best ever held, for in addition to the large and unusual exhibits expected, a long list of nationally known speakers is scheduled. Dr. Stanley L. Krebs, of New York City, will be the principal speaker of the lecture body. "The Problems of the Adolescent" will be discussed by Dr. Caroline Hedger, of Chicago, that same evening, and Prof. J. J. Pieper, of the University of Illinois; Prof. R. E. Caldwell, of Milwaukee, and Mrs. W. J. Fulton, of Waukegan, will speak at the high school in the afternoon. Prof. Caldwell, who was formerly professor of dairy husbandry at Purdue university and director of publicity at the Blatchford Calf Meal company, is known by many local people. Those who have heard him declare that his message to the dairymen of this district will be worth while.

Cicero Man Dies In Boat At Fox Lake

Stricken with what is thought to be a heart attack, as he stepped into a boat at Fox Lake, with gun under arm to go shooting ducks, Edward Tesar, Cicero, dropped dead Tuesday. His brother-in-law, L. Fiala, owner of the Fiala hotel at Stanton Point, who was with Tesar, found him lifeless when he attempted to give him aid. Dr. F. T. Rollins of Fox Lake, who was then called, pronounced Tesar dead.

The dead victim was well-known to Fox Lake residents, as he was a frequent visitor of his sister, Mrs. Fiala, during the fishing and hunting seasons. He is survived by a widow and four children.

The body was shipped to Chicago for burial.

BRISTOL MAN IS HURT IN ACCIDENT

Harry Gitzlaff, son of Mrs. Lena Gitzlaff, Bristol, met with a serious auto accident Sunday evening on the Gogova road north of Bristol. His car, which was hit by a machine coming from the east, was carried several feet. He was thrown out of his car and remained in a semi-conscious state for some time. His recovery is hopeful.

Cash Discounts Save State Over $200,000

Departments under Gov. Louis L. Emmerson saved $207,032 to the state during the past six months by taking advantage of cash discounts allowed for prompt payment of bills. It is estimated such savings in a year will approximate a half million. The Governor called attention of department heads to possible savings from this source early in March. Contracts are being let whenever possible with the cash discount clause included and this practice has resulted in increased saving monthly.

NEW COACH SCHEDULE MAKES ANTIOCH NORTH TERMINAL OF LINE

Three Runs Daily Between Chain O' Lakes and Chicago Loop

Rearrangement of operating headways to better suit the convenience of the traveling public, and maintenance of extensive service to the southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois lake regions on the through routes recently established, are features of the new operating schedule of the Metropolitan Motor Coach company (The Marigold Lines), which went into effect last Sunday.

Through service between Chicago and Lake Geneva is provided, four runs being made daily in each direction under the new schedule. Intermediate points served by Marigold coaches on this route include Niles Center, Des Plaines, Lake Zurich, Wauconda, McHenry, Genoa City and other resort spots in this region.

The new service between Chicago and the Chain O' Lakes region is continued, with three runs daily in each direction. Under the new schedule, however, the northern terminal of Marigold coaches on this route will be Antioch, instead of Powers Lake as under the previous schedule. Persons wishing to reach Powers Lake may do so by taking the North Shore Line to Kenosha and transferring direct to Marigold coaches at the station. Other communities served on the Chain O' Lakes motor coach route include Niles Center, Glenview, Wheeling, Libertyville, Grayslake and Lake Villa.

You may go south from Antioch daily at 7:30 a. m.; 11:30 a. m.; and 3:30 p. m.; and north at 11:06 a. m.; 3:06 p. m.; and 7:06 p. m.

He was invested with this charge by Jack Poorman, of Chicago, who is senior vice commander of the state organization.

ANTIOCH BOASTS OLDEST BASEBALL FAN

Wonder what town has an older or more enthusiastic baseball fan than Nelson P. Pullen of Antioch, who passed his 88th milestone last Friday? Every afternoon Mr. Pullen is found at his radio taking in every detail of the game as announced play by play by Hal Totten or Quin Ryan. He is a thorough and loyal Cub fan, knows all the players by their first names, and keeps tab on the batting and fielding averages of such stars as Charley Grimes, "Kiki" Cuyler and Hack Wilson. He even gets excited and roots for Cub victory when the score gets uncomfortably close.

Mr. Pullen thinks the Cubs will win the world's series.

Motor Fuel Tax Is Deductible In Income Tax Return

In a recent decision of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, received by Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackledge, Collector of Internal Revenue for the First District of Illinois, it has been held that the motor fuel tax, levied in accordance with the provisions of the law of the State of Illinois, effective Aug. 1, 1929, imposing a tax on motor fuels, is deductible in the income return of the consumer who pays it and to whom it is not refunded.

If, however, the tax is added to or made a part of the business expenses of such consumer, it cannot be deducted by him separately as a tax.

LAMB OKAYS ROAD LOCATION FOR STATE ROUTE 173

Right-of-Way Will Be Secured Before Spring, Rosing Says

Securing right-of-way for state highway No. 173 as surveyed by state engineers through Antioch township is not going to be so difficult, according to the Supervisor William A. Rosing who worked yesterday with District Engineer G. N. Lamb and Highway Committee chairman Frank Stanton. The trio talked to many land owners and found that in a majority of cases the rumors of opposition were groundless.

The completion of the road from Zion to Rosecrans and the rapid progress of work on the west end in Boone and McHenry counties, where there was little or no right-of-way difficulty, has given added impetus to efforts of Lake county men to get the right-of-way through Antioch township so that the road may be completed early next year.

After going over the route here yesterday, Mr. Lamb remarked that County Highway Engineer Lobdell would be advised of any changes, if any are to be made, which seems to indicate that the state highway department is well satisfied with the road location. It is now up to Lake county to secure the right-of-way.

VALUE OF EDUCATION AND LAW ENFORCEMENT

The tragic phrase of automobile fatalities is that most accidents are unnecessary. Yet every year thousands of people pay with their lives for carelessness, recklessness, and incompetence of drivers. Compulsory insurance can never offset this loss; at its best it can only indemnify. It begins at the wrong end of the problem.

What is needed is a safety consciousness on the part of the public, and a rigid enforcement of driving laws. In certain communities, safety lessons have been given in the schools, with the result that accidents to children have somewhat decreased.

Experiments have proved that the past accident rate will without any question drop to a minimum when traffic laws are enforced and offenders punished. In many communities the traffic codes are out-worn and many communities, having gone unrevived since the time when the automobile was something of a curiosity.

Education and law enforcement have greatly aided the railroads in preventing accidents and they have also helped in fighting disease. If applied to the automobile problems, they would probably give the same quick and effective results.

WHO ARE THE TAXPAYERS?

How often do we hear people boast of their indifference to the levying of new and higher taxes, because (they think) they pay no taxes anyhow. It is a fact that should be well known to every adult person that nearly all taxes are paid indirectly.

In many lines of business a very large percentage of the gross income is required to pay various taxes, license fees, inspection fees, etc. These expenditures necessarily, charged up to those who buy the products or services of the firm. No concern could stay in business long unless it calculated its profits over and above the cost of doing business, and taxes are one of the first items on an up-to-date cost sheet.

The landlord must figure taxes when he fixes the rental on a house, so the renter pays taxes on a home whether he owns it or not. Likewise, the merchant charges taxes as part of his costs, and the consumer pays. Most of us pay no bills to the railroads for hauling freight, but we pay the freight just the same; and one of the main items used in calculating freight rates is the tax paid by the railroad company.

Practically all taxes—property, income and corporation—are paid by the ultimate consumer, and generally a nice little extra percentage is tacked on for good measure. So the real taxpayers in this country are not on the assessor's list.

Thus it is to the interest of the poor, especially, to see that government expenditures are not unduly high. —Times, Temple City, California.

AN INTELLIGENT SUGGESTION FOR CRIME

The Illinois Association for Criminal Justice believes the effort to prevent crime by sporadic crusades for law enforcement will not bear any lasting results. The association recommends that a research and statistical organization be formed which would act both as a fact-finding body and a yardstick for measuring the efficiency of our agencies of law enforcement.

This is good advice. Too many crime reformers have gone off at half-cock, and have only added to the complexity of the problem. The country seems to be flooded with seers, each with his pet panacea for the ills of society.

As a matter of fact, our laws and administration of justice are so embroiled in red tape and technicalities that nobody knows "what it is all about." Every year thousands of new statutes go on the books; every year the criminal seems to grow more successful and safe. Our records in handling crime apparently improves in inverse ratio to our burden of laws.

We need simpler and better laws. We need less technical jurisprudence and more common sense. And we need such an organization as the Illinois Association advocates which can bring a scientific knowledge and viewpoint to the war against the underworld. Otherwise, we must be as we are at present—a voice crying in the wilderness.

RECIPES OF DESTRUCTION

Here are a few good recipes for destroying your home, factory or any other property:

Let your electric wiring go without repairs or inspections over a long period of time; leave piles of oil-soaked rags or other waste lying around in corners of your garage or basement; don't use fire-resistive construction in building, because it costs a little more; drop lighted matches and cigarette butts wherever you may happen to be; light your fires with gasoline.

No one, of course, is going to consciously use these "recipes" of destruction, or any of the many others of the same nature. Yet it is safe to say that millions of Americans have equal fire risks in their homes or places of business. Laziness, carelessness, ignorance—these are the best friends of the fire menace.

Every time the fire engines dash out in their race against time it means that someone has done something or failed to do something that a little intelligent thought would have warned him against. We Americans are the most careless of peoples when it comes to fire, and the most wasteful.

Fire Prevention Week will be October 6-13. It will be a good time to profit by the knowledge and teachings of the experts who are fighting the discouraging war against fire. Almost every great conflagration would be prevented if we spent a few more dollars or a little more time in guarding against risks. Begin now.

Old Eagle Eye Says--

Golfers will soon have to park the clubs for the winter.

You can't buy this winter's fuel for the money you spent on last summer's fuel for the car.

At that who would want to live in a land of eternal summer time? Grey days bring warm fires, a pipe, and even a friendly game of pinocle.

Did you notice the new light in front of the First National bank? It makes a lot of difference all right. There's no doubt about it. There are only a few more places on the west side of the street to fill in and we are sure that it won't take long. Wonder what enterprising citizen will be the first on the other side.

And while we're on the subject, old eagle eye thinks that the new lights played an important part in the success of the hot Legion parade last Friday night. Ought to turn them all on and off at once though.

Another thing that showed up a little plainer than it has in the past was the number of bicycles on the sidewalks of Main street Friday night. The kids ought to enjoy themselves but is Main street the place for them to ride? Let's see if we can't help to get rid of this nuisance. They ought to have a light after dark, too, or someone will be getting hurt.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Reality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 29.

The Golden Text was, "Thy throne is established of old: thou art from everlasting" (Psalms 93:2).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made" (John 1:1, 3).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine metaphysics, as revealed to spiritual understanding, shows clearly that all is Mind, and that Mind is God, omnipotence, omnipresence, omniscience—that is, all power, all presence, all Science. Hence all is in reality the manifestation of Mind" (p. 275).

WILD FLOWERS

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

It was the last of May and along the railroad right of way as I rushed through the prairies, I could see the wild flowers blooming. Civilization has pushed them back to more remote and undisturbed regions or has utterly destroyed them, excepting in these strips of prairie land which the aviculturist plow share has as yet left untouched. I wish there were a law that they must be left undisturbed. More and more these natural gardens along railroad tracks are being put into cultivation.

Wheat and oats and corn are growing in the rich soil and more's the pity, the flowers are disappearing. There are wild strawberries in the grass. I can see the white blossoms as we ride by, and fast as we roll along I can see occasionally the glint of the scarlet berries ripening in the sun. I have eaten strawberries at Kenilworth where they grow as big as crab apples, and I have tasted the prize varieties from a dozen sections of the country. There are none so sweet and satisfying as those we used to pick out of the prairie grass as we sought them on our hands and knees on the way from school.

There are great gardens of phlox—Sweet Williams we used to call the flower. I can still see on the teacher's desk in the old district school house the bunches we used to gather and present to her to show our affection or to win her favor. Along the hedge rows wild blackberries are blossoming, white as snow. We gathered the luscious berries in the summer years ago and mother made them into jam. I can taste it yet.

There are patches of purple spiderwort, and violets and tall, graceful shooting stars rising on their single slender stem. I wonder if down in the marshy places buttercups and lady's slippers are still growing. It was a real occasion when we found a lady's-slipper blooming. We did not know then as I know now that when we picked the flower we wounded the plant to death. I am sure I should have left it untouched much as I wanted to hold the delicate blossom in my hand, had I not been ignorant of the result of my plundering.

There are roses on the uplands—fragrant, delicate, not to be compared with any cultivated rose which floral geniuses have developed. Give me the wild rose before any of the rest of them. Some of the flowers I have almost forgotten so long ago it is since I have wandered among them. The sight of them brings back almost forgotten memories, however—names of which I have not thought for years, experiences which I but dimly recall, associations which were very close in those days. I am a child again, wandering barefooted through the prairie grass, picking my way carefully lest my feet suffer. There are for a time no responsibilities, no duties, only the wild flowers and the song of the meadow lark to enjoy.

Cakes

There are 3 ways of mixing a cake—stirring, beating, and cutting or folding. To stir, let the spoon touch the sides and bottom of the bowl and move it round quickly in circles of various sizes. Do not lift it out of the mixture and work well against the sides. To beat, tip the bowl to one side; bring the spoon or fork quickly into the mixture and through it; then take it out of the other side and bring it over and down again, scraping the sides well each time. It is important to keep the bowl of the spoon well scraped out during mixing. The beating process should be hard and quick. To cut or fold, turn over the mixture with a spoon or knife and lift it up, folding it as lightly as possible. Do not stir or beat, but mix very gently until blended.

If the butter is very hard when beating it to a cream, it can be slightly warmed in the oven or put into a hot bowl, but it must never be melted. The best method to soften hard butter is to put it through the food chopper. Another way that it may be softened is to heat the sugar before mixing it with the butter. Tainted butter should never be put into cakes.

The baking of cakes is one of the most difficult parts of cake making. No matter how carefully the mixture has been prepared, the success or failure of the cake will very much depend upon the proper regulation of the heat of the oven. Ovens require very close observation, because some are inclined to burn on the bottom, while in others, the top is the hottest part.

The most correct way of gauging the heat of an oven is with the thermometer. The degrees of heat are usually considered as follows:

From 400 to 450 degrees—A hot oven.

From 300 to 350 degrees—A moderate oven.

From 250 to 270 degrees—A slow oven.

There are also one or two popular tests which may be applied by novices, such as the following:

Sprinkle a little dry flour on the tin and place it in the oven. If there is sufficient heat to bake a cake, this will be brown in about 5 minutes. Or put a piece of white paper in the oven and if, at the end of 5 minutes, it is a good yellow color, the heat is moderate and suitable for most cakes.

After a little experience, the heat of the oven can be judged by simply feeling it with the hand. A cake to be baked to perfection should rise evenly and be smooth on the top, and by the time it has been in the oven half its time a light brown crust should be formed.

When a cake rises in a cone in the center, it shows that the oven was too hot in the beginning, with the result that the sides of the cake become hardened with a crust before the mixture had had time to rise. If the cake seems inclined to rise at one side, it shows that the oven was too hot on one side. This may be prevented to a certain extent by carefully turning the cake during the baking process.

When a cake shows signs of becoming sufficiently brown before it is ready, it should be covered with a double fold of greased or wetted kitchen paper. Cakes should be allowed to stand 2 or 3 minutes before removing them from the tin.

Sally Ann's

at Her Home

Sally Ann likes to go and play with the little neighbor boys and girls, and sometimes she gets into fights with them too. They play house, make mud pies, make doll dresses; oh, they play so many things and Sally Ann has such a good time.

Then all of a sudden, just like big folks do, the little rascals will get into a quarrel, and Sally Ann is quite mean to her little playmates sometimes.

One day several of the boys and girls who live near Sally Ann brought all of their toys over to Sally Ann's house and why do you suppose they did that? Well they wanted to paint their nice pretty colors, red, green, and yellow. Sally Ann's grandfather, who lives at her home, is a painter, and so he had lots of colors of paint left over. So when Sally Ann's mother wasn't paying much attention to what the kiddies were doing, they got out all the paints and brushes and began to decorate their toys. You just can't imagine how pretty they looked, boys and girls, and pretty soon the kiddies began to look just as pretty. Their faces and hands

Mauve Molehills

IT'S GONE

What's gone? The long warm summer of 1929. We are now facing the chills of autumn and the rigors of a cold winter. How beautifully it came to us—creeping into our lives like a slow moving breeze and now it has departed.

Old Jack Frost, the slayer of summer beauty, is on his way and we'll greet him sorrowfully because of the things he does with his master hands. The beautiful flowers took on new life and came to us from their winter abodes, doing their part to make our summer surroundings more worthwhile and now they are going, helplessly falling back into the earth that nourished them.

The green summer garb on trees and shrubbery will be changed to the red, purple, yellow, and gold of the autumn, but only for a short time, because the leaves in all their glory and beauty must soon wither and die, and fall back to earth by the touch of Mr. Frost's mighty power.

The peaceful smiling moon in the warm blue summer sky is now cold and glaring in a seemingly gray sky.

The vacation days, the pleasure trips, the camping, the swimming holes, the fishing, the ball games, the picnics, the fairs, the circuses, and many other of the summer reveries are going away with her. Of course another Miss Summer is due to arrive in 1930, but maybe some of us won't be here then—who knows? Such is life with its morn, noon, and evening.

O beautiful summer, we hate to see you go;

You were more than a dream to us; Now your quick passing grieves us so. Oh! why do you follow Fashion's old way

And at the first cool breeze of autumn, Leave us all here and go astray?

October

The wind sang a song to the leaves; He begged them to come and play, To put away their prettiest dresses And come with him far away.

The leaves did not know what to do were red, yellow, green, and all colors of the rainbow.

After they had painted and painted, they went into the house where their mamma was to show her how pretty they looked, and what do you think she said? Well sir, she didn't say anything; she just went outdoors and got a nice little twig. But you all can guess what she did that for. Poor little kiddies cried and cried, but they deserved a good whipping, didn't they, little folks? Next week, you'll hear more about Sally Ann being a naughty girl.

Paschen Neighbors Frolic at Barn Dance

Hundreds of lake residents and Antioch people were in attendance at the party and barn dance tendered last Saturday night by Chris Paschen, Chicago building commissioner and owner of Paschenale farms, near Antioch. Elaborate decorations for the occasion and a troupe of entertainers and an orchestra from Chicago were features which made the party even more enjoyable than the one given last year.

Paschen has owned Paschenale farms for a number of years, and he likes Antioch and her people who hail him as a "regular fellow".

Acting upon impulse Saturday night, one of the guests penned an ode to the host; and here's the result of the extemporaneous effort:

To Mr. Christian Paschen

Here's to the health of the man who does

Great things in a great big way!

We'd like some more of that brand of guy

For they don't come along every day.

So let's don't overlook—as is often the case

What it means to the countryside.

For he brings all in, he takes none out

And he opens his coffers wide.

So let's give him a hand and our wishes best

'Cause he's doing a lot of good

And don't squat down and criticize

'Cause he's doing what we wish we could.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kufalk and Clarence Kufalk and Robert Runyard returned Monday night from a trip to Yetter, Waverly, and Shell Rock, Iowa.

Ray Webb, Red Waters, Bill Regan, Frank Hunt, S. M. Wallace, and Otto Klass are attending the National Legion convention in Louisville, Kentucky.

Mrs. James Stearns left Saturday for Streator, Illinois, where she is visiting relatives this week.

Fox Lake Woman's Club Has Announced Date For Opening Program

With arrangements completed and a strong membership built up for the ensuing year, the members of the Fox Lake Woman's club have announced October 3 as the date for this season's opening program, since the club is actively operative only from October until June, inclusive.

Judging from the series of programs which have been outlined for the club year, the women are heartily enthusiastic about upholding the primary objects of their association, which are "civic improvement and the general good of the community". Many of the program themes, such as "Our Favorite Author" and "Favorite Plays", are indicative of intellectual and social culture, while in others there are evidences of co-ordinating civic interest, an example of which is, "Great American Citizens".

Declared a legally organized organization under the laws of the state of Illinois in January 1923, the club has been in existence as such for almost 7 years. According to the articles of the association, the management is vested in a board of 9 directors. The regular meetings are held on the first and third Thursdays of each month, included in the club year, and the third Thursday in April has been set aside as election day. Article 4 indicates that the framers were unusually shrewd in regard to who should hold office in the organization. As would be expected, the president must be particularly well qualified, in that she must have "served the club three years in the capacity of department chairman, member of Board of Directors or district delegate". According to section 4, "no member of less than two years standing shall be eligible" for any office.

There is a ripple of fraternalism in the following pledge which each one who is accepted into the club must take: "Holding sacred and worthy of unfailing loyalty my membership in the Fox Lake Woman's club, I will sustain its good work and guard its reputation". The motto, "Give to the world the best you have and the best will come back to you", is in harmony with the other high ideals maintained by the organization.

Activities connected with the club are varied as may be seen from the departments of work listed in their year book, American home, American citizenship, education, conservation, fine arts and music, legislation and civic service, literature, public welfare, press and publicity, Park Ridge school for girls, junior membership, and speakers' bureau.

The officers are as follows:
President—Mrs. M. A. LaPalme
Vice-president—Mrs. Margaret O'Brien
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Louis Brydges
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. E. R. Tweed
Treasurer—Mrs. Wanda Bennett

In every piece of job work we do, we employ the latest ideas of the printing art to develop your sales arguments and to emphasize your selling points. It increases your returns materially.

Dividend Printing

►There is one kind of printing that you want—printing that pays a dividend on the investment.

►A letterhead with right sort of type properly balanced is a real business asset. It wins the approval of the person receiving your letter, and while he is in this frame of mind your letter is read.

►The same reasoning applies to any other job of printing. Neatness, the right weight and kind of paper, the color of the ink, the selection of the type, all play an important part in the production of dividend printing.

We are equipped to give you that kind of printing. Let us prove it to you.

WE CAN GIVE YOU what you want IN PRINTING when you want it! Try us out with your next job

And so it is in the game of life—we must hit the ball hard every working day—to win. Even then you are not winning the game if you are not saving a part of your earnings. Antioch Teacher Tours Europe

Miss Hyneck Gives Impressions of Foreign Travel

An Interview by Agnes Bienfang

"Then the Master, With a gesture of command, Waved his hand; And see! she starts! She starts—she moves—she seems to feel The thrill of life along her keel, And spurning with her foot the ground, With one exulting, joyous bound, She leaps into the ocean's arms!"

It was in the wee hours of morning in the late spring of the year that this ship quietly stole its way out into the dark blue waters of the great Atlantic, amid cheers and adieus. On board were 900 men and women, representatives of nearly every profession—doctors, lawyers, artists, musicians, teachers, and what not!

There were teachers and teachers, but only one whose thoughts momentarily reverted to the folks back home in a little town in central Wisconsin and to the fourth grade boys and girls in a little town in northern Illinois to whom she had said goodbye not longer than a dozen days before. Her passport told the story—she was Miss Mary Hyneck of Hillsboro, a teacher in the grade school at Antioch. She was none other than our own Miss Hyneck, into whose love for adventure there had crept a purpose for taking this journey into the far off lands of Europe—she was eager to see in actuality the things about which she had read and dreamed and all the while she had in mind the little folks in her class room; she wanted to bring something to them upon her return in September.

There was confusion on the S. S. Minnesota. Flowers galore! Telegrams! Last-minute messages! Tears! Cheers! The great ocean liner was gliding, gliding. The water rolled upon it with a heavy, sleepy purring. The much-talked-of New York sky line was in sight.

"It was queer getting up in the morning," said Miss Hyneck. The ship was all astir most of the time—there were card tournaments, shuffle board tournaments, deck tennis tournaments, and dancing. The officers devoted every minute of the day to the pleasure of the passengers. The equipment and furnishings were very complete and elaborate. There were libraries, barber shops, rest rooms, ball rooms, all kinds of rooms for the comfort and convenience of those who were on board. Restfulness reigned because of the abundant fresh air, and good food, together with the proper exercise offered. According to Miss Hyneck, ship board life does not feature convention in the limelight. She says that "it was perfectly proper to speak to a person walking down the deck next to you." It was very easy to get acquainted, because each could appreciate that all were strangers.

At the dining table, Miss Hyneck not infrequently sat side by side with a Columbia university faculty member, an undergraduate of Harvard, or an American short story writer who was going to France in search of local color. Due to the fact that the Minnesota was owned by a company, the majority of the members of which were English, the physical atmosphere of the ship had taken on color which was peculiar to that influence. For instance, puddings were always prominent on the menus; rare meat was quite the vogue; the steward announced that it was "aft hafter" seven; and in the barber shop were heard typical Englishmen talking about the "witer" and the "gimes". The meals, which were very wholesome and delicious, were served in cabin, on deck, or in the dining salon. Each passenger had the opportunity to state his preference. Very few of the 900 were seafick and Miss Hyneck was with the majority.

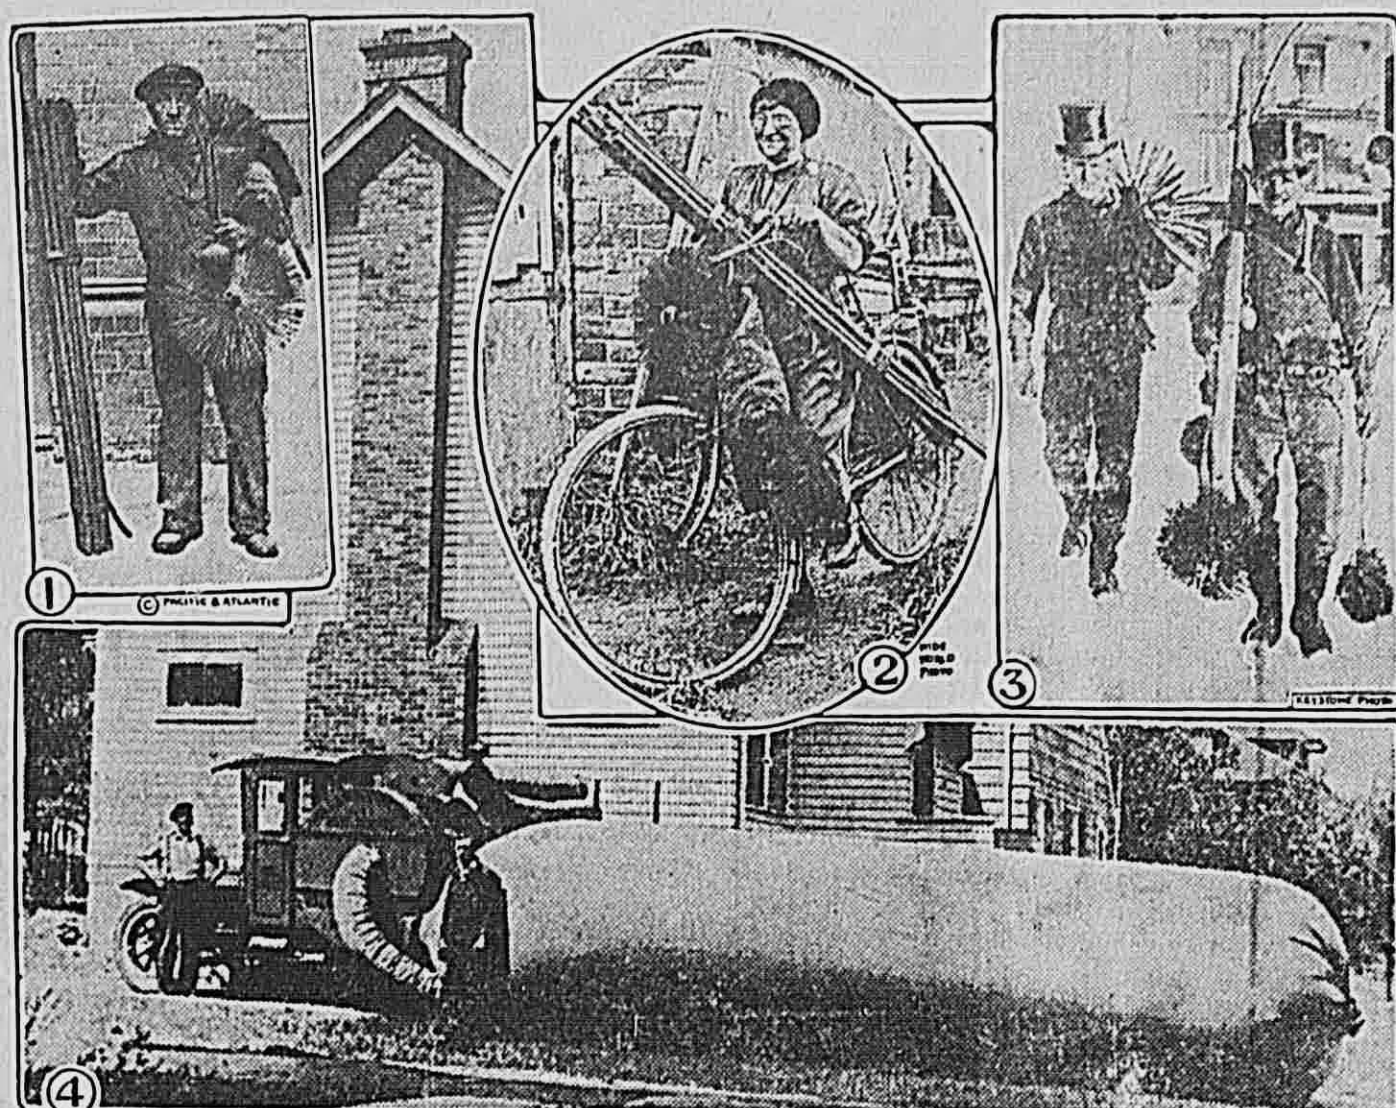

In contrast to the popular belief, ocean waves are not much larger than those of lakes. The ship was in the gulf stream for two days and during that time the passengers could go on deck without hats and gloves, because it was so warm. The sun was extremely bright and as the result, a coat of tan was easily acquired. There were many ships on the ocean and at a distance they appeared to be standing still, but not so when they passed the Minnesota, because they flew by with a whiz. These must have been welcome sights for the passengers, when, for hours, and maybe days, they had seen nothing but water. During the journey across, the ocean varied, but generally speaking, it was smooth. For a time, however, the fog was so dense that the officials deemed it necessary to blow the fog horn every 30 seconds. As Miss Hyneck looks back at that situation now, she says that she believes that the ship was in graver danger than the officers intimated.

On the fifth day at dusk, land was sighted. What a peaceful aspect it must have been! Everything looked foreign as they viewed the Isle of Wight in the distance. The landscape was bleak and the revolving lights of the lighthouse shined over the water was a beautiful sight.

It was on the sixth day that the officials of the Tender, the boat which was to carry them to France, boarded the Minnesota. About 4 o'clock that morning the passengers went for their last walk on deck. The big red sun was just making its way into the heavens. Their proximity to land was strongly emphasized by the large number of sea gulls that came out to meet them and also by the fact that the ship was almost entirely surrounded by fishing schooners.

At 4:30 on the morning of the sixth day, following medical inspection, about one-third of the party boarded the Tender for Boulogne via the English Channel. The two ships sounded whistle; the Minnesota pulled anchor and started for London; the Tender steamed for Boulogne. This was occasion for the severing of many friendships made on the ocean. The stiff breezes blew as they lived in a quiver of expectation—they were anxious to land at the port of Boulogne. As the steamer cast anchor, there was quarrelling and loud talking among the porters, because each was desirous of earning all he could. The baggage was assembled in each case

America in Lead as User of Labor-Saving Devices

Hand-Tasks Still Popular in Europe; Continent Has Yet to See Its First Suction Cleaner for Heating Plants and Chimneys.

Americans traveling in Europe, and residents of this country whose early lives were spent abroad, think of the Old World as more than the site of superb museums and art galleries, historical and religious shrines and magnificent pleasure places. They also dwell upon its quaint and picturesque ways of doing things, and the prevalence in everyday affairs of survivals of medieval manners.

Ancient cottages and manors—such as Haddon Hall where Dorothy Manners lived her high romance, and the delightful farmhouses of France, from the crevices of whose thatched roofs, moss and wild flowers grow—present a delightful contrast with the mechanical-looking, "slick brand-new" dwelling house in this country.

Wood and stone still are carved by hand, and the smith still beats out graceful shapes in iron, for the embellishment of the home; and, despite the encroachment of the machine age, many things which modern America accomplishes mechanically still are arts of handicraft in Europe.

But, while all this has the great advantage of age-old picturesqueness, it has disadvantages, too. For instance, there is the matter of chimney cleaning. In America the giant vacuum-cleaning machine has all but supplanted the old-time chimney sweep, whereas in Europe this dirty but extremely necessary job still is done entirely by manual labor.

Any morning the American traveler in Europe, be he in England, Germany, Switzerland or anywhere else, may see one or more of these strange figures in black hood, silk hat or tall-pinked cap, with brooms and brushes, ropes and rods over their shoulders, ladder and soot bag under arm, calling their trade to the housewives.

Elsewhere on this page are shown pictures of chimney sweeps of several European countries. By way of contrast, also, is printed a photograph of one of the thousands of mechanically-operated giant "chimney-cleaning blimps" used throughout America, which does everything that any chimney sweep can do and a great deal more quickly and efficiently.

The Holland Institute of Thermology describes the suction cleaner for heating plants as an enlarged edition of the household vacuum cleaner adapted to the heating field. Usually it consists of a 40-horse power motor, mounted on a truck, a huge canvas bag, and what appears to be many sections of flexible stovepipe.

(1) The typical English chimney-sweep, and (2) here's one not so typical—Mrs. Hannah Poole of Hollywood, Worcestershire, the only woman who ever took up this ancient craft. (3) Swiss sweeps wear silk hats—just because they always have. (4) This is the giant vacuum cleaner, modern America's improvement upon the old-world sweep. (5) And this is how a crew of German chimney-cleaners appear as they set out for a day's gambol over the housetops.

The motor operates a fan which, working through a "snake" formed of several sections of pipe attached to first one and then another of the heating plant openings, draws the accumulated dirt and soot out of the heater into the huge bag, which is then taken to the city dump and emptied. The suction method is the best yet devised for cleaning both chimneys and heating plants, because it reaches the many nooks and crannies in the modern heating system that are beyond the reach of human hands. But one of the larger types of cleaners should be used for best results, since a small, improvised affair may lack both motor power and suction to do a spick-and-span job.

Motor-created suction not only cleans the entire heating plant more completely and thoroughly than is possible by hand, and does it in a fraction of the time required by the manual method, but also does it without fuss, muss, dust or dirt—even while the decorator or laundress is working. If that is desired.

Dirty and sooty heating plants are fuel wasters. With hot water and steam boilers, soot covering the boiler heating surfaces means loss of fuel. Soot-covered surfaces keep the heat away from the heat pipes so that it is wasted out of the chimney. Tests by the United States Bureau of Standards have shown that one-eighth of an inch of soot on the heating surfaces of a central heating plant will reduce the plant's efficiency 28 per cent, while one-quarter of an inch will cut it down fully 48 per cent. So a thorough cleaning of the heater can easily save one or two tons of coal in the course of a winter.

Soot and obstructions in the heater and chimney interfere with efficient heating and are a source of fire hazard. Defective flues and heating plants comprise one of the chief causes of fire loss in the United States. Suction cleaning removes obstructions, brings to light defects in the furnace, smoke pipe or chimney and discloses any fire danger there.

A thorough cleaning of the furnace puts the finishing touch on the spring housecleaning. A dirty and sooty heating plant makes a house difficult to keep clean and raises the cost of cleaning it. In the ordinary house three-fourths of the dirt comes in from the outside atmosphere through cracks around windows and doors, and one quarter from the heating system.

When the heating system is defective, however, the amount of dirt from the heating plant increases until it equals the amount that comes in through the windows. Cleaning of the heating plant saves labor in dusting, lowers laundry costs, preserves hangings and furnishings and reduces the necessary frequency of changing wall and ceiling decorations.

Spring rains seeping down the chimney onto the soot-laden smoke pipes will corrode and ruin them. Removing the soot by the suction method minimizes this damage.

An erroneous, though popular, impression is that a heating plant in which some other fuel than coal is used does not get dirty and dusty. Oil leaves a greasy and grimy deposit on the inner parts of the heating plant, and so does gas. The vacuum process is effective in removing these drawbacks to heating-plant efficiency.

Thus, on the score of economy in fuel and labor, and as a lighterener of the housewife's labor, the modern mechanical heating-system cleaner represents the march of progress away from the hand methods of the old country chimney sweep. That is why countless American women have the suction cleaner spend an hour or so on their premises and then forget about the heater until the next fall.

under the initial of the person to whom it belonged. Some of the members of the party found it necessary to stand on their bags in order to keep track of them during the battles of the French porters. Everyone was exhilarated by the thought that they had really arrived at Boulogne.

There was not a minute to lose; their American dollars had to be changed for French francs; and it was at this station that Miss Hyneck and the woman who was to be her traveling companion, a faculty member of a girls' school in West Virginia, got their first impressions of a typical Frenchman.

(You will read more about Miss Hyneck's trip next week.)

LIGHT'S GOLDEN JUBILEE

FIFTY years ago, on October twenty-first, 1879, Mr. Thomas A. Edison announced the success of his incandescent lamp. In addition, he initiated the system by which electricity is produced and distributed for light and power. These inventions marked the beginning of wide-spread changes in living and working conditions.

Cities have been transformed; homes have been made more beautiful, more comfortable, more healthful; travel has become more rapid, safer and more enjoyable; enlightenment has spread; amusements have multiplied; the opportunities for useful employment have been widened immeasurably; and innumerable conveniences that were unknown have become commonplace.

Never in the history of the world have the benefits of any other invention been enjoyed by as many people as are participating in the advantages that electric light has brought to mankind.

Throughout every civilized country there is reason for rejoicing because of the achievement that is being celebrated in this year of Light's Golden Jubilee.

Mrs. C. L. Carrell Wins Distinction in National Musical, Radio Circles

Will Go To New York To Direct Series of Radio Programs

More national distinction has come to Mrs. C. L. Carrell, Chicago, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. James. She is now construction manager of a number of records which are being broadcast from several stations all over the United States. In addition to playing the piano, she assembles other talent necessary in the composition of these musical productions. In the radio and musical world she is known as Louise Gilbert Carrell.

Has Contracts With Big Firms
 Mrs. Carrell has contracts with some of the biggest advertising firms in the country to direct their entire schedule of musical entertainment features. She has already opened a studio in Kimball Hall, where she may concentrate on her productions and on the arrangement of materials with which to fulfill her contracts. The musical programs for which she was responsible this week were presented at the Arch Woman's club, at the opening parent-teachers meeting in Lenn High school, and at a banquet given in honor of Governor Emmerman.

She will go to New York the middle of this month to direct a chain of programs under her professional name.

"RUDY" GETS ANOTHER CHANCE WITH KRUEGER IN PALACE WINDUP

Buddy and Bob to Meet in Challenge Dual Tomorrow Night

Just to prove that a good man can't be kept down, Promoter Dick Macek and Matchmaker Wallenwein are giving Rudy Peterson a return match with Bill Krueger, Chicago, in the lineup event of the Palace boxing show tomorrow night. Krueger emerged victorious over Rudy after four rounds of milling last Friday night, the bout being featured by clever boxing and hard hitting. The Chicago boxer won the verdict in the extra session when he rushed Rudy all over the ring, landing on the Evanston boy with both hands.

The semi-windup tomorrow night will be between Ted Berg, English A. A. U. champ, and Joe Pitts, Evanston. This is also to be a return match, Pitts having won in four rounds over Berg last Friday.

Beyers and Miller Matched
 Here's what the rest breathers have waited for—Buddy Beyers, Twin Lakes, vs. Bob Miller, Northwestern University star. This is sure to be a battle royal. Both are clever and can hit. The boys will weigh in at 160 pounds.

Paul Shamfelt, Waukegan and Paul Harris, Grayslake, will open the show when the first preliminary is staged at 8:30 o'clock. Others to appear in preliminaries are: Ernie Krodichvil, Racine, and Al Reese, Chicago, 140 lbs.; Jimmy Fay, McHenry, vs. Angle Ole, Chicago, 160 lbs.; and Grover Alexander, North Chicago, vs. Oscar Miller, Chicago, 173 lbs.

Last Friday's Results Windup

"Red" McDowell, Waukegan, lost on a technical knockout to Bob Miller, Evanston, in the third round.

Semi-Windup
 Bill Krueger, Chicago, won the decision over Rudy Peterson, Evanston, in four rounds.

Preliminaries

1—Paul Shamfelt, Waukegan, won over Teddy Hunt, North Chicago, on a technical knockout in the third round.

2—Paul Harris, Libertyville, beat Ted Wilson, Chicago, in three rounds.

3—Jimmy Raymond, Chicago, was knocked out by Howard Craft of Grayslake, in the third round.

"KONJOLA GAVE ME RELIEF FROM ALL HEALTH TROUBLES"

Nervousness And Kidney Troubles Quickly Ended By Treatment Of Modern Medicine—In Good Health Now

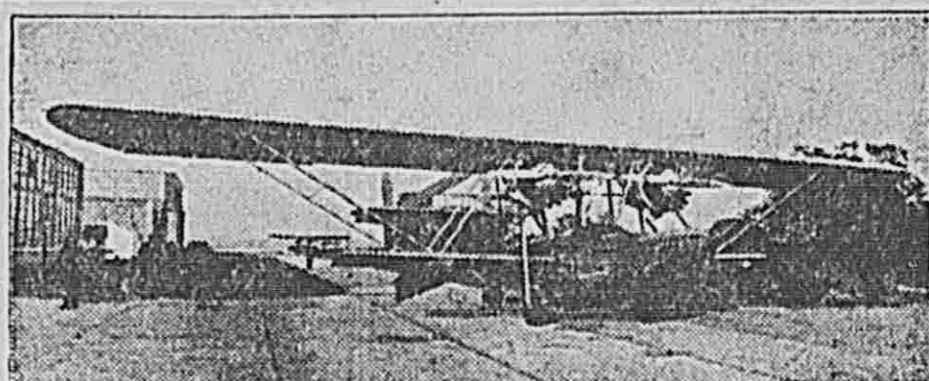

MRS. MARY MILLER

"For some time my kidneys were in a dreadful condition," said Mrs. Mary Miller, Custer Park, R. R. No. 1, near Joliet, Illinois. "I was forced to rise several times each night and naturally felt tired and worn out in the morning. Continued headaches and dizzy spells contributed to my poor state of health."

"Konjola gave me relief from all my health troubles. With a quickness that was surprising this medicine went to the source of my troubles, cleansing and invigorating my system. My kidneys were strengthened so that night rising became a thing of the past. Nerves have been quieted and are now in a settled condition. To me Konjola is the best medicine of them all and I heartily advise all sufferers to give it a trial."

Konjola is sold in Antioch at S. H. Reeves' drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

Added To Public Service Equipment

"The Northern Light", new Sikorsky airplane, delivered to Public Service Company this week, for general use in administration and control of the company's system.

As a further modern means of rendering fast and efficient service to its customers throughout the 6000 square miles of Northern Illinois territory served with gas and electricity, the Public Service Company has purchased a Sikorsky amphibian airplane, which has been named "The Northern Light". This plane will arrive in Chicago the latter part of this week.

Operating a gas and electric system over so widespread an area—with continuous day and night service in more than 300 towns—there are innumerable uses to which the plane will be put. It will be invaluable in patrolling and inspecting electrical transmission lines, in planning growth and development of the company's system, in mustering engineering officials at one place in time of emergency, and in general adding to the company's facilities for speed and efficiency in the control and administration of its widespread system.

The plane was built in the Sikorsky factories at College Point, Long Island, New York. After acceptance tests at the factories, it will be flown to Atlantic City, New Jersey, where it will be officially delivered to Britton I. Budd, President of this company, who will previously have arrived in Atlantic City to address a convention of the American Electrical Railway Association. After inspection and acceptance by Mr. Budd, the plane, piloted by Arthur L. Caperton, will be flown direct to Chicago, landing at the foot of Monroe street, with a group of the company's officials as passengers.

"Although we cannot advise you definitely the exact day of 'The Northern Light's' arrival, we feel sure that it will be some time late this week", J. R. Pershall, advertising manager of the Public Service Company, said today.
